President And Ickes Confer On Critical Gas Situation

Drastic Cuts In Retail Deliveries By O. D. T. Order

Gasoline Crisis Causes New Order To Ban Retail Delivery Of 15 Commodities

OTHER DELIVERIES ALSO CURTAILED

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 25.—Taking official cognizance of the extreme seriousness of the East coast gasoline shortage, President Roosevelt today arranged a conference with Harold L. Ickes, petroleum administrator.

By WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Extreme seriousness of the gasoline crisis on the Atlantic seaboard was reflected today by an office of defense transportation order banning retail deliveries of 15 commodities and drastically curtailing their wholesale delivery in 13 eastern states and the district of Columbia.

The latest step in the emergency program to save critically short supplies of gasoline, the ban is effective at midnight tomorrow and prohibits entirely retail deliveries of a list of commodities including soft drinks, alcoholic beverages, ice cream, magazines and flowers.

All Sunday deliveries were banned—both wholesale and retail—with the exception of ice, fresh milk and cream, newspapers, certain mine products and explosives, medicines, telegrams and mail.

Delivery of newspapers was not affected by the drastic order. The 40 per cent cut in mileage for commercial trucks, buses and taxis still applies to newspapers, however.

Deliveries Limited
The ODT ordered that the number of retail and wholesale deliveries which may be made in one week from one point to another point of destination is limited according to the commodity delivered. It also ordered immediate rearrangement of delivery routes so that they neither duplicate nor overlap.

The commodities included: poultry; eggs; fruits; vegetables; fish and shell fish; live plants for food production; bread and perishable bakery products.

Alcoholic beverages or wines, including malt beverages; soft drinks, manufactured tobacco products, confectionaries; fresh milk or cream; ice cream or ices; magazines and periodicals; laundry or dry cleaning.

A curfew ordinance was passed in Beaver Falls on Monday. When someone objected that 11 o'clock was too early for minors to be able to get home from the second show at the movies, it was pointed out that they could go to the first show. The objection, however, countered that the youth of Beaver Falls was "too sophisticated" to go to the movies early. In the end, the city fathers passed the curfew, though, so youthful "sophistication" is just out for the duration there.

Cup turning is more than just an operation in the making of pottery. It is a favorite pastime of local service men, now scattered all over the world, who delight in turning cups over to see what is on the bottom. The latest report on this global wartime sport comes from First Lieutenant Howard Gates, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Gates of 302 Euclid avenue, Lt. Gates, who is stationed somewhere in the Middle East where the temperature is 107 degrees, found what he was looking for—"Shenango Pottery."

President And Churchill Finishing Strategy Plans

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, May 25.—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill today are believed to be putting the finishing touches to a five-point grand strategy plan for world-wide offensive action against the Axis this year.

Diplomatic observers in Washington believe the five main points of the strategy plan that is now nearing completion in the White House conferences are:

1. Continuance of the beat Hitler first policy.
2. Intensification of the aerial warfare in Europe with a view to ascertaining whether air power alone can bring about a collapse of the Italian and German war efforts.

3. A limited invasion of the fringes of the European continent this summer, with the main knock-out land drive against Germany developing next spring if air power fails to bring about a collapse of the Nazi war effort in the meantime.

4. A powerful aerial offensive against Japan this year, including direct attacks on the Japanese mainland.

5. Tentative preparations for a possible fall campaign to retake Burma and open the overland supply route to China.

Knox Reports Japs Corraled On Peninsula

Also Reveals That Fighting Is Being Continued In Aleutian Island Outpost

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Secretary of Navy Frank Knox reported today that American forces on Attu Island have "corraled" the Japs on a peninsula as he revealed that fighting on the Aleutians outpost is continuing.

At the same time, Knox declared that he assumed that the Japs on Attu will complete the airfield started by the Japs, possibly for further thrusts against the enemy not only on nearby Kiska but against important Japanese bases in the north Pacific.

Knox, at a news conference, reported that "the fight on Attu is continuing."

Japs Corraled
"We've got the Japs corraled on a peninsula," Knox stated, indicating that he expected the fighting to end soon.

The secretary declared that the navy did not know where the two waves of Jap bombers which attacked Attu Saturday and Sunday were based.

"We don't know where they came from," Knox said. "A supposition is that they came from Japanese bases in the Kuriles."

For the first time, Knox disclosed that the navy's famous "beaches" were operating Attu, getting supplies to the American soldiers.

Knox said that the navy's construction battalions were "extremely helpful getting supplies ashore." He added that in amphibious warfare it was not only important to

PLANS COMPLETE FOR DEDICATION

Memorial Plaque To Veteran Dead Of Present War Will Be Unveiled Sunday

Fred C. Duff, chairman of the committee appointed by County Commissioners George H. Bolinger, William R. Walton and Joseph F. Travers, to arrange for the program in connection with the dedication of a memorial plaque to the men of the armed forces killed in the present war, announced today that all arrangements for the event are now complete.

Judge W. Walter Braham will deliver the dedicatory address which will take place from a platform placed at the corner of Court and East Washington streets. The plaque has been put in place and will be located in the corner of the court house lawn at that intersection.

The idea was conceived by the commissioners several months ago, and they turned the arrangements over to a committee composed of representatives of the World War veterans organizations, with Commander Duff of the Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion, as chairman.

The program will take place immediately following the return of the veterans societies from Greenwood cemetery on Sunday afternoon, which will be around 3 o'clock. Complete details of the program will be announced later in the week, the commissioners stated today.

Dortmund Is Said To Be 'Dead City' After Bomb Raids

Reports Reveal Devastation Wrought By Terrific Bombing Attacks

ALLIED FLIERS IN NEW NAZI ASSAULTS

By LEO V. DOLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, May 25.—A strong formation of Allied aircraft streaked out across the Dover Straits at high altitude today toward the continent, coastal observers reported.

The planes swept over the channel between Folkestone and Dungeness.

Although no official announcement was forthcoming immediately from the air ministry the sudden silencing just before midnight of numerous Nazi-controlled radios indicated that the Royal Air Force had struck again during the night to obliterate Axis war industry.

The enemy transmitters shut down were those along the southern reaches of occupied western Europe, leading to the belief that either southern Germany or northern Italy might be under attack.

The Vichy radio went off the air during a news broadcast at 11:45 p. m. The stations at Nice, Toulouse and Marseilles became silent soon after.

Fire Damages East Side Home

Mrs. Clarence Campbell and Two Children Taken Off Porch Roof At Pearl Street Home

LOSS OF $3,000
RESULT OF BLAZE

Fire, which is believed to have resulted from a short circuit, caused damage of $3,000 at the home of Clarence Campbell of 819 Pearl street at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Campbell and two young children who were forced to seek escape from the flames raging inside by crawling out onto the front porch roof were rescued when firemen arrived at the scene of the blaze.

The fire spread rapidly and Mrs. Campbell and two children, who were upstairs, had their escape down the stairway cut off. They climbed onto the porch roof, and as soon as Fourth Ward firemen arrived, just a block away from the scene of the blaze, Frank Cochran, an employee of the city garbage department, placed a ladder from the fire truck onto the roof, and took off the children while firemen were laying a line of hose. Mrs. Campbell was able to crawl down another ladder placed by Firemen Earl E. Dart and Louis W. McGarry.

The fire is believed to have started from a short circuit in an extension cord, which had been placed to a light underneath the kitchen stove to provide heat for a bunch of young chicks, during the damp weather today.

Two alarms were sounded to bring three fire companies to the scene and after a hard battle, firemen got the fire under control, but not before considerable damage had been done to the house and contents.

Nazi Thrusts Repulsed By Red Defenders

Three Attacks At Different Points Are Made By Nazi Troops

ARTILLERY DUELS IN KUBAN AREA

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, May 25.—Three Nazi thrusts into Russian defense positions on widely separated fronts were reported by the Soviet high command today which said all of the German attacks were repulsed.

The unsuccessful German drives, in the Donets basin, west of Rostov and in the Sevska area of the southern front, were made in an apparent effort to find a possible weak spot for resumption of offensive operations.

Advances Attempted
A detachment of German troops attempted to advance into Soviet positions south of Izium on the Donets front but was thrown back, according to the noon communiqué.

In the Sevska area, west of Kursk, the Nazi command threw a company of troops into an attack which was brought under Soviet fire at close range and was forced to retreat in disorder.

A reconnaissance drive was attempted in force by the Germans west of Rostov-on-Don but was thwarted by mass fire from Soviet batteries, the high command said. Russian artillery also destroyed five blockhouses.

Russian Raids
The Russian themselves meanwhile dashed forward on the central front west of Moscow to raid German positions in the vital Smolensk area. The attack resulted in the slaying of 200 Germans and destruction of numerous pillboxes and artillery and trench mortar batteries.

Soviet scouts on another sector penetrated in German trenches and killed 50 of the enemy.

Only artillery dueling was reported from the Lischansk sector of the southern front where it was said Soviet artillery destroyed six pillboxes and three blockhouses.

Artillery Duels
Further artillery duels were reported in the Kuban valley of the West Caucasus northeast of the Novorossisk naval base. The high command said that the Russian navy and the Soviet air force had sunk six German barges and set fire to a transport in the Black Sea, apparently in the vicinity of the naval base.

An apparent effort to relieve Soviet pressure on Novorossisk the Germans attacked the rail center of Bataisk south of Rostov, the Moscow radio said. Russian fliers challenged the raiders and brought down 13 while losing three of their number. Some damage was reported to dwellings and there were some casualties but installations of military importance were unscathed.

Rabaul Jap Base Heavily Bombed

Sixteen Tons Of High Explosives Dropped On New Britain Base By Allies

(International News Service)
UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, May 25.—Sixteen tons of high explosives and incendiaries were hurled down on three airdromes and a seaplane airport at Rabaul, New Britain, Allied headquarters announced today.

Fires set by heavy bombers at the Sulphur Creek seaplane base and in dispersal areas at the Vunakanau, La'gual and Rapopo airdromes at Rabaul were visible 100 miles away 30 minutes after the attack.

Also assaulted in the continuing aerial drive to cripple Jap air strength north of Australia were the airdrome at Gasmata, New Britain, attacked for the 13th consecutive day, and the often-bombed Peitert landing field at Kupang on the island of Timor.

Medium bombers scored hits in dispersal areas at Gasmata, indicating burning planes, and started fires visible for 30 miles at the Penfoel field.

The Jap base at Finschhafen, New Guinea, was attacked twice. Two heavy bombers on reconnaissance assaulted Finschhafen during the day and a night-flying Liberator bomber bombed the town and nearby villages of Kakakoe and Simbang.

Large explosions and fires were started by attack planes which bombed enemy waterfront installations at Lae, New Guinea.

BATTLE SNOW, SLEET AND RAIN ON ATTU FRONT

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The navy reported today that American land forces continued their advance against the Japanese on Attu island in the Aleutians as it was revealed for the first time that the invading Yanks are battling in snow, sleet and rain.

At the same time, United States army planes bombed the Jap main camp on nearby Kiska Island for the second time in three days, the navy said.

While early reports from the north Pacific disclosed unfavorable weather, the navy for the first time today revealed how the American forces on Attu were forced to battle the elements as well as the Japs.

"U. S. army forces continued to advance and exert pressure on Japanese forces on Attu, despite sleet, snow and rain which handicapped operations," the navy asserted.

Mid-West Floods Spread Over Wider Area Of Six States

Fear Food Production In Wide Section Will Be Badly Hampered

(International News Service)
Flood swollen rivers carved a wider path of vast destruction in six midwest states today, giving rise to new fears that the breadbasket of the nation would not be able to meet its wartime crop needs.

In Illinois alone, where new high water danger points were opened up along the Mississippi and Illinois rivers, a total of 1,257,698 acres of crop land has been flooded. Estimates by Dean H. P. Rusk of the University of Illinois college of Agriculture showed that 368,474 acres of wheat, corn and oats have been destroyed in the state.

Delays in planting and in pasturing cattle, vast damage to truck, fruit and field crops and the retarding of pollination were reported throughout the six-state flood stricken areas of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Taft's Grove City Speech Arouses Capital Interest

Washington Stirred By Senator's Address At Grove City Commencement

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 25.—A speech by Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), denouncing proposals for creation of a post war super-state or a crusade to implant the "four freedoms" in the world aroused widespread interest in Washington today.

Sen. Taft, who made the speech at Grove City college, Pa., called for co-operation in the post war world "along the general lines" of the old League of Nations, but avoiding its pitfalls.

Predicting victory in the war against the Axis, Taft said that the nation should begin to determine "just why we are fighting the war and what we are going to do with victory when we attain it."

He expressed a personal belief that the United States went to war in order that it may be free to work out its destiny, to punish aggression, and discourage its recurrence and to prove that "might in this world will not make right."

"I do not believe that we went to war to establish the four freedoms or any other freedoms throughout the world, and I do not believe we went to war for all of the purposes stated in the Atlantic charter," said Taft.

"We did not go to war even to establish liberty throughout the world, except as such a world condition might result from the insurance of our own liberty."

"Look only at the history of the last 10 years. We did not go to war against Japan when it attacked China. We did not go to war with Germany when it attacked Czechoslovakia or Poland."

"War occurred only when our people came to believe that aggression was so dangerous and so likely to be successful in the world that our own safety was threatened."

Sardinia Given Heaviest Blasting By U. S. Bombers

More Than 300 American Bombers Hit Nine Areas On Island

TO IMMOBILIZE AXIS AIR BASES

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, In North Africa, May 25.—The bomb-battered Italian Mediterranean island of Sardinia was given its heaviest pummeling of the war yesterday when more than 300 American bombers laid waste to nine important areas on the island, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced today.

The raids were carried out by Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle's strategic air force. The squadrons which roared to the attack over Sardinia included Flying Fortresses, Marauders, Mitchells and Lightning and Warhawk fighters.

To Immobilize Axis Bases
They hit at the targets throughout the day in the intensified fury to immobilize the Axis bases there. Twelve Axis vessels were hit in the course of the raids as the planes alternately bombed and strafed dock and shipping facilities.

Four of the ships were sunk, a fifth was blown up and the remainder set on fire.

Nazi interceptor planes challenged the raiding and nine of these enemy craft were shot down in dogfights. Other craft were destroyed on the ground.

It does little good to squawk that I know, but it certainly lets off some steam, and now and then when the pressure mounts, a fellow gets off the beam. And that is why as I write this verse, my temper is rather warm, just take a look at the outside friend, it's a brother-in-law to a storm. And the garden waits for those onion seeds and the lettuce they're late away, so pardon me if I snort a bit, it's sixty-seven today.

Heavy Bombers Blast At Italy

Ferry Terminals And Railroad Yards On Mainland Attacked

CAIRO, May 25.—American and British heavy bombers, furthering the Allied campaign to knock out Axis Mediterranean bases, again have blasted the important ferry terminals and railway yards at San Giovanni and Reggio Di Calabria, on the Italian mainland, Middle East headquarters announced today.

While these targets on the toe of the Italian boot were being hammered, other Allied craft struck areas at the Messina ferry terminal, on the island of Sicily.

At least one enemy fighter of a group which attempted to intercept the raiders was shot down in combat. All the American planes returned to their bases.

Direct hits were scored on the ferry terminals and yards at San Giovanni.

At Reggio Di Calabria the Yank bombers, besides hitting ferry installations, set off an explosion in nearby rail yards which started a large fire.

British bombers assaulted the ferry terminal at Messina, on the east coast of Sicily, just across the straits from Reggio Di Calabria, on Sunday night. Bombs hit the ferry berths and oil storage facilities, causing seven fires.

get troops ashore to establish a beach head but that they had to be furnished with supplies.

"The seaboards are proving very skillful at this work," Knox stated.

Knox said that the navy had received no definite reports on the feasibility of developing the airfield which the Japs had started when American forces invaded the north Pacific island.

Dismisses Jap Claims

"But," the secretary asserted, "I assume what the Japs have started the Yanks can finish."

Knox refused to interpret the fact that the Japs were sending bombers over Attu. Nor would he venture a guess as to whether it meant that the enemy will attempt a counter-invasion.

Knox was asked to comment on Japanese reports that the enemy had sunk an American battleship, a cruiser, and other U. S. vessels off Attu.

"It's another Jap fishing expedition," Knox said in dismissing the Tokyo claims.

The Japanese struck back at the Yank invaders in two air attacks in an obvious attempt to slow down or check America's Aleutian offensive.

All these plans are believed to be dependent to a great extent on military developments in Russia. If the anticipated German summer offensive against the Soviets should succeed in disorganizing the red armies, diplomatic observers believe the United States and Great Britain will be compelled to risk a large scale invasion in western Europe to relieve pressure on the Russians.

However, the view prevails generally in official and diplomatic circles that Russia probably will be able to withstand the German drive this summer as it did in 1941 and 1942.

ouncement that German troops had arrived there.

In the same raid pattern, Gen. Doolittle's gang of Yankee fliers included two new smashing attacks on the much-bombed tiny island of Pantelleria.

An allied air force spokesman stressed the importance of the current air assaults by pointing out that they follow a carefully constructed pattern. Some selected targets are presently undergoing a practically non-stop pounding spearheaded by Flying Fortresses, the age high-level precision bomber. In all combat in this theater as well as over western Europe, the U. S. has been able to defend themselves against all comers and far outmatch the best that can be offered by the German air force.

Belonging originally to the Belgian Baron Empain, Lac Masson, Quebec, Canada, known for the Domaine d'Estel, summer resort in the Laurentians, is now an air force training center.

was seen in the fact that the Budapest radio went off the air at 11:50 p. m. This station shut down, significantly, immediately after broadcasting air raid precaution instructions.

Informed circles in Britain said meanwhile that the German industrial city of Dortmund, subjected during the early hours of yesterday morning to the most severe bombardment ever meted out to any city, probably will be crossed off the list of Royal Air Force targets for many months.

Dortmund, in the heart of the flood-ravaged Ruhr, they said, is now a dead city.

Reports reaching London from Switzerland said that the hour-long Dortmund raid, during which more than 2,000 tons of block-busters and incendiaries were smashed down upon the city, caught Nazi authorities completely off their guard.

37,000 Homeless

Unofficial estimates said that some 37,000 persons were left homeless by the devastating raid.

These last 2,000 tons dropped on Dortmund brought to 100,000 tons the weight of bombs dropped by the R.A.F. on Germany so far in the war and the Reich was promised officially that the second 100,000 tons of explosives would be delivered with greater speed in the future.

A copy of the Essen national Zeitung received in Zurich stated that a large number of Essen's residents

TAXES

Another pride of New Castle taken off the tax list. When our former industrialists and leading business men of New Castle wanted to beautify New Castle and build something to be proud of, they built beautiful homes. Beautiful homes are the pride of any city. This generation is passing away, leaving these beautiful homes, not to be taken up by younger business men to keep the pride of New Castle up, but either to be given to non-taxpaying organizations or dismantled. If this continues, what will New Castle look like twenty years from now, and how many homes will there be left that will be paying taxes?

We had better tax properties at their present-day value, and get something out of them, than to tax them so that no one will be willing to spend their money retaining them as homes for New Castle to be proud of.

OKLAHOMA WILL FIGHT AGAIN

RIGHTING the sunken and heavily listed battleship Oklahoma at Pearl Harbor is a notable engineering achievement. The Oklahoma was almost upside down—151 degrees—when naval workmen started on this task last February. Now this 29,000-ton warship can be salvaged. That means the absolute losses among the 19 vessels sunk in the Japanese sneak attack of December 7, 1941, are reduced to three.

But there is the grimmest sort of reminder of what Pearl Harbor means to us in the fact that there are still in the water-filled hold of the Oklahoma the bodies of 381 officers and men. Nearly in the sunken and useless Arizona the Navy expects to find 1071 more bodies. In the old target ship Utah are 57 others. These, as we know, are only part of the heavy toll of men that Sunday morning.

It has been an enormous job to right and repair heavily damaged sunken ships and restore them to fighting trim. We shall hope that these brave young Americans who so unnecessarily died in them may soon have peaceful rest.

We may congratulate ourselves that the work of salvaging almost ruined ships has been capably—in some respects brilliantly—done. We can never forget that those ships need not have been sunk that day or those lives lost, if there had been alertness and efficient leadership.

That lesson must be remembered on every outpost and every front throughout this war while we drive on to visit full vengeance upon Japan for Pearl Harbor and the mounting list of other intonies.

TENTS COME FIRST

Endless are the intricacies of industrial production during this war, as is again demonstrated by the impending abandonment of the government plan to put out a working uniform for members of the Women's Land Army, which is expected to ease the farmers labor problem this summer. The uniform was to have been of denim and to have cost the wearer $6.

Now one of the largest denim producers say that the necessary denim or other useful fabric is not available, because the industry has been compelled to convert looms to tent twills urgently requisitioned by the quartermaster general to make up a deficiency of 5,000,000 yards of cotton duck or fabric ordinarily used for tents.

The demand for denim caused by the war has been heavy. A large part of the output during the first four months of this year went to fill lend-lease demands which developed shortly after the North African invasion because of the foreign relief and rehabilitation program.

Work clothing manufacturers had been waiting for those contracts to be filled in order to replenish their civilian denim supplies, but the shortage in the material will continue until completion of the procurement for tent twill.

SONG AND SENTIMENT

There is in the skin of happiness in the fabric of American life a tremendous appeal to the blues of the South Pacific where U. S. fighting men are gathering for a blow at Japan. It is inherent in American music which natives adopt quickly and with enthusiasm.

Sergt. Raymond L. Sailor of the U. S. Marines, a resident of Satanta, Kan., has been impressed by the ease with which the South Sea Islanders learn popular American songs. In a letter home he says that it is a thrill to hear a group of natives, all with excellent voices, singing "God Bless America." This song and "You Are My Sunshine" are the most popular with Oceanians with whom he comes in contact.

The South Sea islander may speak pidgin English or none at all, but he quickly acquires correct pronunciation in songs. Some do not know all the words but fill in with humming while others carry on, and the sergeant indicates that it is a source of much delight to the natives to entertain with popular music.

Americans have the temperament that appeals more to the carefree South Sea Islanders than that of any other nationality. These primitive folk are attaching themselves to American doughboys through song and sentiment, ties that will withstand political earthquakes for the next half century.

BEYOND ATTU LIES TOKYO

There is one school of arm chair strategy that flouts the theory that the United States will undertake the conquest of Japan from the south, which would involve an island to island struggle, difficult and interminable. This group is convinced that when the major attack is made it will be from the north and will be directed at the heart of Japan. The campaign to drive the Japs out of the Aleutians would necessarily precede such an assault.

When the Japs gained a foothold in the Aleutians, there was a disposition on the part of United States military authorities to dismiss this setback as unimportant. This view has changed. The small, inhospitable island of Attu is now recognized as vital to the United States as a stepping stone, in the direction of Tokyo. That is why the attack on the Japs there was made with such overwhelming force. The island will be armed with whatever personnel and equipment is necessary to thwart any Japanese attempt to retake it.

The capture of Attu will undoubtedly be followed by a similar move against Kiska, the last Jap-held toehold in the northern Pacific. The importance of Attu is revealed by a glance at figures of comparative distances. From Pearl Harbor, American stronghold of the Pacific, to Tokyo, the distance is 3,800 miles. From Dutch Harbor to Tokyo the distance is 2,800 miles, while Attu lies only 1,778 miles from Tokyo which is within flying range for bombers.

Establishment of a strong United States base on Attu Island will contribute further to the insecurity of the Japanese on their own islands and will bring closer the day of attack from the north. The months of hard fighting required to recover Guadalcanal, Tulagi and part of New Guinea have shown how long and difficult this road to a victory in the Pacific would be. Possession of Attu by the United States is the greatest threat Japan faces today.

What has become of the pessimists who predicted this would be a year of drought?

Mussolini boasts that, for once, his troops were the last to quit fighting in Africa. Apparently the Duce is going to claim from now on that he has the best defeated army in the world.

The Parent Problem

By Gary C. Myers, Ph. D.

YOUNG CHILD TRAVEL PROBLEM

On any bus or train one may see one or more mothers with a baby, or small child. An occasional traveling mother has several little children with her. Most of them are going to see "Daddy," at a military camp or port of embarkation. Some of these young mothers look so frail and so tired. One's heart goes out to them.

Bus drivers and train attendants usually are very kind to the little ones and their mothers, though not all passengers are. Recently I saw a fine sight on a train. A child of about 18 months rolled off the seat and his mother was not able to quiet him. The tall conductor asked the mother to let him have the baby. Walking back and forth with the youngster on his shoulder he soon comforted him and had him sleeping.

One also may see a soldier show his buddy a photograph of his family of several young children. A father can imagine his feelings. One of the loveliest scenes I have witnessed was that of a soldier and wife with a baby of about five months on a bus, both so very proud of it, each saying the baby was the greatest treasure of the world.

Such scenes and that of so many young mothers traveling long distances to be with the father attest to the strength of family love and affection. For the wife, child and husband to be together as much as they can be helps bind the family ties, of course. Having served in War I, when my two older children were four and two, I can understand.

Nevertheless, many of these young mothers, if they knew before becoming the trip of the task facing them and the hazards to the baby or young child, and then the living conditions they will be subjected to on arrival, would not attempt the trip. It is hard for the young wife and mother to realize these facts beforehand. In spite of his eagerness to have her and the child come to join him for as long as possible, the father knows of the difficulties involved. Even though he might plead with the mother not to come, she may go.

Some wives get it into their heads wrongly, that when the father advises against her coming to him, he does not love her or the child as he should or is interested in another woman. Company officers at military posts spend considerable time with soldier-fathers trying to persuade them not to have their families come to them because of the impossible living conditions for civilians.

Often, however, before the soldier can get the message to the mother, she and her child have already appeared. But we must all try to understand and not condemn, though some of us might help these young mothers to see the facts as they are.

It is easier for the breast-fed baby to travel than the one that is bottle-fed or the tot. It is also safer since food dangers are then lacking for the baby. The wife, mother of babies and children will wherever they are this summer both the milk and water for the child, unless it is pasteurized or officially declared safe.

Solving Parent Problems
Q Should a woman teacher who wishes to be patriotic give up teaching to go into a war industry now?
A No; unless she is a much needed technical expert.

Q Would you advise a five year old to enter school in case there is no kindergarten?
A No; except in the few rare instances in which the child is farther developed physically, socially and mentally than the average child his age.

Q How much sleep per night should the high school student have?
A From 9 to 10 hours, preferably 10. A chart showing desirable hours of sleep for children at the various age levels may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Tomorrow—When Schoolgirl Works During Summer.

The average life span of both men and women in the United States has been raised steadily from generation to generation.

Recently a medical scientist predicted that in the not too distant future the age of the average man will be 100. Immediately this brings to mind the possibilities of a single old age with the accompanying infirmities with which we vision "Old Age."

It is comforting to know that as the life span of man increases, there will be an eradication of these infirmities. Thanks to science, Metheusaleh, we are told, lived to the ripe old age of 969. He could not have attained that great age if he had been ailing and infirm. What then was the secret of his age? My guess is summed up in one word: HAPPINESS.

A cheerful, happy disposition is worth a lot more than a bottle of tonic in the medicine chest or a bottle of vitamin pills in the purse or pocket.

We grow old because we permit a lot of pre-conceived prejudices to clutter up our mind and crowd out of our mind all happy thoughts. Mainly because we permit someone else to do our thinking for us and then adopt their theories as our own.

Every normal person regardless of race, color or creed has two sides to their nature—the physical and the spiritual. The happy person is one who strikes a happy balance—who does not overdo or underdo the physical by burning up too much energy in work or play, and who does not lean too far toward the ascetic and so become biased and morbid.

Happiness is a gift of the infinite—the Almighty. I rather imagine that God wants all of us to be happy but He insists that we acquire happiness rather than having it given to us by "Divine Right."

Happiness comes from making others happy. It is not acquired in any other way. Unless we give happiness to others, we cannot ourselves be happy.

In every thing we say or think or do, there are two paths open to us. One that will give Happiness and Pleasure to others, and the one that will make others unhappy.

If you adopt the policy of doing good for others as you progress thru life, you will in turn achieve a full measure of contentment and happiness. Thus, you will acquire real happiness.

It might be well for us to paraphrase the Boy Scout obligation of doing one good deed each day to "making someone else happy each day." Also, to paraphrase another well known saying: "The greatest good for the greatest number is the greatest happiness for the greatest number."

The laws of life are immutable. We get out of life just what we put into it. The more people you make happy, the more happiness you yourself will have.

You cannot be happy if you think evil thoughts. If you permit selfishness and a personal consideration to warp your mental vision, if you deny to anyone the rights you accord to yourself.

Suppose we coin another phrase: "Make one person happy and you will be happy; make two people happy and you will be happier; make three or more people happy and you will be happiest."

Looking At Life

Tony, the cab driver, is dead. And the whole neighborhood in New York's Bronx is mourning him.

Tony was a typical cab driver. Rough and not too refined, ready to punch any fresh guy in the nose.

But Tony had a heart of gold. He had his stand at the same corner for twenty years, and everybody in the block knew him.

He helped old ladies and children across the street, and warned them to wait when the red light was on.

Many a time when one of the oldest ones showed signs of too much arthritis or some other ache or pain he'd insist on giving them a free ride to the doctor or the hospital.

Once, the story goes, he drove a very old gentleman way out into the country to visit a son and he wouldn't take a nickel, because he knew the man couldn't afford it.

Tony, as I said before, was rough and ready. But he was a gentleman.

So many people have an entirely wrong idea of the meaning of the word gentleman.

They think fine clothes make a gentleman, or family rank or money. That's not so at all.

One of the finest gentlemen I ever met was a truck driver.

My car had broken down out in the country. My wife and I were dressed for the evening. I signaled a hundred passing cars. Not one responded.

Then a big truck drew up. The driver, a powerful fellow—I would have hated to get into a fight with him.

He fixed my trouble in a jiffy. When I offered him money he said: "Never mind, Buddy. Give it to the hat check girl."

Another great gentleman was a little Irish janitor I knew in Greenwich Village.

He worked from early morning until late at night. His wife and his four children idolized him.

No matter what you wanted him to do, he'd do it with a smile.

But once I saw him knock down a cop who tried to get some rake-off from him for letting him keep the ash cans in front of the house.

That's what I call gentlemen—men who are gentle, kind and fearless.

You may find more gentlemen than you think if you'll only look in the right places.

The World and the Mud Puddles

SHALL WE RETALIATE?
When citizens of this nation read of the atrocities committed by the Japanese when they are told that those filthy Jimmy Doolittle's excursion over Japan, who were forced to land in Japan and were captured by the Japanese and afterwards executed, they just naturally see red. And now when a Japanese submarine sinks an Australian hospital ship, fully loaded and carrying emboldened upon its side the fact that it was a hospital ship, the desire of vengeance becomes at a white heat.

The treatment that we have accorded the Japanese in this country—Japanese Nationals and Japanese citizens of this country—to say nothing of the members of the Japanese embassy who were interned in Virginia's swank hotel, the people do not understand. All of the Japanese in that Virginia hotel and in the concentration camps are enjoying the best of care, the best of food. Everything is made pleasant for them and this treatment, in such contrast to the actions of the Japanese military forces, is hard to understand.

In time of war there is always a fierce desire to "take an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth"—to hand back to the enemy just what they give and then some.

However, the people of this nation still adhere to the teachings of the Bible both the old Testament and the new Testament. The Christian church regards the truly Jewish part of the bible with just as much reverence as they do the new Testament—the story of the Christ—and if good churchmen worried about the problem of fighting men taken prisoners, they might find a solution of this problem in the Second Book of Kings, where the King of Israel looking at a great army of captives, exclaims:

"My Father, shall I smite them, shall I smite them?" And Elisha answered: "Thou shalt not smite them. Wouldst thou have these whom thou has just taken captive with thy sword and bow? Set bread and water before them that they may eat and drink." (II Kings VI: 22)

Hitler Comes First

WASHINGTON, May 25.

ONE SURE thing concerning the outcome of the British-American conferences now going on in Washington is that that will be no change from the basic Roosevelt-Churchill decision reached at Casablanca—to wit, that the defeat of Hitler comes first.

THAT is the line upon which this war is going to be fought out and there will be no deviation therefrom. That he and Mr. Roosevelt wholly agree about this was made clear by Mr. Churchill in his magnificent speech last Wednesday when he outlined the war situation and the reasons for the decision with a candor, clarity and completeness which neither the American Congress nor the American people have had from their own leaders.

WHEN to his presentation of the unarguable fact that while the defeat of Japan would not mean the defeat of Germany, the defeat of Germany would ruin Japan, is added the Prime Minister's unequivocal pledge that Great Britain will take her place beside the United States in "unstinting and relentless war against Japan while there is breath in our bodies and blood flows through our veins," that would seem enough to satisfy all have the most unreasonable critics. The inspired Senatorial effort, which is still being continued, to compel a change in Allied military strategy cannot be justified and may do harm. It is gratifying that the President and Mr. Churchill show no signs of being affected. The fact is that this drive to force a change in military strategy is wrong for the same basic reason the recent drive of the WPB to take away from the army its authority over munition production contracts was wrong.

THE ONLY justification of the latter would have been failure of the army to measure up. If it had bogged down on the job, then insistence upon a change would have had weight behind it. But the WPB effort, because of overwhelming evidence in the matter of munitions and supplies the army had an outstanding record and was far better equipped by knowledge and experience for this particular service than the civilian heads who proposed to take it over. In a larger way, the same reasoning applies to the movement to compel modification of the Roosevelt-Churchill (Continued On Page Five)

NEXT MISSION

Over the emperor's palace they flew in the light of the day. But the emperor of command had been given unharmed must the emperor stay.

They were sent on a mission of warfare, unchallenged they dropped from the sky.

And the emperor must have been thankful in safety to watch them go by.

As the emperor stood in his palace he saw them just over his head.

In his ears was the roar of their motors as on to their targets they sped.

But they left him unharmed for a reason, which Japanese can't understand.

That mercy must go with the triumph and the ruler be spared to his land.

They could have set fire to the palace, for it stood but a few yards below.

They could have dropped death on the emperor.

They'd time and the means for the blow.

But they left him unscathed in his splendor.

And how was their mercy repaid? The lads who had spared Hirohito were tortured and put to the blade.

Well, the boys will be over the palace again in a month, or two more.

TWO-HOUR METERS PROPOSED HERE

Request For Recommendation Causes City Council Action On Monday

Arthur Harris, service operator of the city's parking meter system today following a request by council, presented his recommendations in regard to possible new meters here.

He recommended the purchase of two hour parking for a nickel meter, and 90 new meters for Washington street between Jefferson and East streets. Council instructed the legal bureau to prepare plans and specifications for the new meters and bids will be taken.

According to the recommendation the two hours parking for one nickel would be permitted on streets north of North street, as follows: Mill and Mercer streets to Fall street and Jefferson street to Grant streets.

No mention was made of penny-for 12 or 15 minutes parking at the post-office or at other similar institutions. However, in council meeting recently penny parking was dismissed.

The meters proposed to be bought are the Mark Time, said by a representative of the company, to be made of better material than those now in service. However, in asking for bids all companies will have that privilege.

According to the Mark Time representative the cost would be: nickel meter, $47.50; penny (15 minutes) $47.50; meter available for either penny or nickel parking, $52.50; and the two hours parking for a nickel, $50.00.

Property Director Joe Alexander expressed the belief that the city can secure as many of the present type in service at half the cost of those now offered. It is said that they are in storage in this city.

At present the proposed purchase has only reached the "Prepare plans and specifications" stage.

The meters now in service cost about $58.00.

military strategy. If in this field, under these leaders, our arms had suffered reverses and mistakes had clearly been made, there would, indeed, be merit in the arguments for a change. But, in face of the brilliant success of the African campaign with its great potentialities for European invasion and also the easing of transportation difficulties to the East, certainly no failure can be charged.

ON THE CONTRARY the results have been such as to strengthen confidence in both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill as military strategists. Under these conditions, they are entitled to full support. Under these conditions, their judgment should be accepted. This is not to say that Senators and others have no right to question military policies as well as any other. It does not mean that they must follow blindly bad military leaders. It does mean that so long as these leaders are successful there exists every reason for support, none for heckling or holding back. If those who are urging that the strategy be switched so as to make the crushing of Japan our first objective were in possession of either facts or arguments which Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill lack or have not heard, there would be substance and force to their contentions.

BUT SUCH, clearly, is not the case. All the facts and all the arguments have been considered by the two heads of state and their military chiefs. Certainly, better informed than the critics of their policies, they made their decision and are to be congratulated on not weakening. To weaken now under pressure would be demoralizing. It would diminish confidence in the firmness of their character and the soundness of their judgment. And to ask them to alter their course in the field where their record is not only good but great is to ask the absurd. The Prime Minister's explanations and pledges coupled with evidence that so far from neglecting that side of the war, help is going to China and the South Pacific in steadily increasing quantities should bring this disturbing agitation to an end. Perhaps, it has served a good purpose in developing the facts, but it will not serve a good purpose if, in the absence of any evidence of military mistake, it is persisted in.

THE MILITARY situation, of course, is in strong contrast to that on the home front. The Roosevelt record on domestic affairs is as poor as his record in military affairs is good. The mistakes at home are too many and too grievous to be denied or ignored. After eighteen months of war we still have no financial policy, no food policy and no manpower policy worthy of the name. Conditions in Washington are in an admitted mess. Administration criticism and attack for failure in these fields is not only justified, it is demanded by the national interests and the war effort. But it is very different in the matter military strategy. There, on his record, the President is entitled to support and trust. And if subordinate army and navy officers are covertly inspiring the criticism, they should be disciplined.

We were willing and able to take TUGH JOBS

NEARLY EVERYBODY seems to know that the Chrysler Corporation makes Army tanks and that those tanks give a good account of themselves in battle, throughout the world.

For well over a year these big fighting machines have been produced in ever increasing quantities, but they are, after all, only a part of the total war production of this corporation.

That total war production includes twenty-one distinctly military products, for the use of our armed services and for the protection of civilian populations.

For the soldier we not only make tanks in which he engages the enemy in battle, we also make the trucks and combat vehicles which haul him and his equipment about. We make the stoves that heat his tents and barracks and the field kitchens on which his meals are cooked. We make refrigeration units which preserve his food in camp and in the field. We make the ammunition to defend him and the guns and cannon with which to shoot the ammunition.

For the Air Service we make bomber fuselages for the Army, and major bomber sections for the Navy. We make landing gear for planes. In Chicago we are just completing a very large plant to make big airplane engines for long range bombers. We make the bomb racks to carry the bomb loads of the planes. We are making thousands upon thousands of Duralumin forgings and castings for all types of aircraft purposes.

For the Navy we are making vital parts of searchlights that the Navy uses to spot its targets. We are making the gyroscopic compasses that steer the ships of the Navy and Merchant Marine. We make pontoons for lighterage and for the raising of ships that have been sunk. We make both pusher and puller types of tugs which are used all over the world from Iceland to Guadalcanal, on the rivers of South America, India and Russia. We make thousands of marine engines for many purposes—some of them for commando boats and things of that nature.

When we saw the war coming we knew that it would be a mechanical war and that no concern the size of the Chrysler Corporation would remain out of the picture.

We felt that institutions like ours should hold themselves free and in readiness to take tough jobs—those things that require intense cooperation on the part of scientists, metallurgists, engineers; the volume jobs that require intimate knowledge of the tooling and mechanical processes necessary to make duplicate equipment in large volume.

Today finds us employing over eight thousand subcontractors. Fifty-eight cents of every dollar we receive for our war effort is passed on to somebody else who supplies us services, materials or parts. We are not only prime contractors ourselves, but we are also subcontractors for a number of other companies, ranging from such concerns as General Electric and Westinghouse, employing great numbers of people, to small and remote outfits of a few hundred men.

Many people ask "What about your post-war plans?" Our only plan is the present urgent one to win the war and win it quick. For every moment that we can shorten this war we feel that, as a people, we are lucky, and, as a Nation, fortunate.

Of course we think that after the war people will be driving automobiles and eating bananas, washing their clothes, wearing shoes, and that the styles of ladies' hats will change. We feel that business is an economic thing and that it tends to follow cycles. We think that if we keep our minds on the fact that we are sailing a boat on an economic sea, and that if we sail it according to the charts and the weather, and to the conditions we find, that this Nation can go into its post-war effort with the same enthusiasm and the same desire to do a service to our 135 million people that is now being exhibited in this all-out war effort.

Ohio State Freshman Found Shot To Death; Friend Is Suicide

(International News Service)
DELAWARE, O., May 25.—An Ohio State university freshman, Gaylen Lewis Burke, 18, was found shot to death today in a hotel room, apparently slain by his close friend, W. G. Troeger, 45, who then took his own life.

Friends said the man and boy had been inseparable friends, and that they had worried over Burke's imminent induction into the armed forces. He was to have been inducted yesterday in Columbus.

Sheriff M. F. Pinney said the older man apparently shot Burke in the latter's room on one of two beds in the room they shared in the Allen hotel. Troeger's body was slumped against the other bed. Nearby lay a .32 caliber pistol.

Three Rubber Plants Are Near Standstill In Strike At Akron

(International News Service)
AKRON, O., May 25.—Production neared a complete standstill today in three of the nation's major rubber companies as most of 6,000 men in one shift at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company refused to return to work.

The strike, which started Saturday and spread rapidly throughout Akron's vast war-vital rubber industry, had thrown an estimated 44,000 or more out of work today.

Goodyear company officials said that only a scattering few of 6,000 on last night's late shift showed up for work. Free-for-all fights developed at the previous shift at two p. m., between pickets and employees attempting to report for work at the Goodyear No. 1 plant.

NEW MINING METHOD

Breaking up coal in veins by use of explosives is still standard practice in U. S. mining, and despite precautions is still hazardous. Coal Age described a new method of mining by hydraulic pressure. A hole is bored in a coal seam, a rubber tube is inserted to the bore, and the tube is then powerfully expanded by forcing oil into it, fracturing the coal. Experimental installations broke about 2,500 tons of coal each before failing.

Critical Shortage
The ODT explained that the critical shortage, which it said is expected to become increasingly serious within the next 60 days, is due to the disruption of the west-east petroleum movement caused by the floods and the breaking of a pipeline in Arkansas.

States affected by the order and also the recent pleasure driving ban edict and the 40 per cent mileage reduction for commercial vehicles are Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, part of Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, part of Virginia, part of West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Flow of oil through the "Big Inch" pipeline line which was broken, was resumed in Arkansas last night, but it was pointed out that there will be a few days yet before the petroleum starts into the dry east.

Also, it was explained, restrictions are still necessary because the 365,000 barrel gasoline quota for the east was being exceeded by from 40,000 to 50,000 barrels before the line broke.

Trips Limited
WASHINGTON, May 25 — The number of trips which may be made each week under the ODT's drastic order on wholesale and retail deliveries, follows:

(1) Fresh or frozen meat, poultry, eggs, fruits, vegetables, fish and shell fish; live plants for food production—5 wholesale and 3 retail.

(2) Bread and perishable baker products—6 wholesale and 3 retail.

(3) Alcoholic beverages or wines, not including malt beverages—1 wholesale and 0 retail.

cleaning; part or supplies for repairs; cut flowers except for funerals; shrubbery.

Toys, novelties, jewelry, furs, radios, phonographs, antiques.

Some Exemptions
Exemptions include deliveries to farms and ships, and deliveries of newspapers, certain mine products and explosives, medicines, telegrams and the mail.

Emphasis was made that exemptions to the ban, such as Sunday deliveries of newspapers, were only with respect to the number of deliveries permitted and did not grant waiver of the 40 per cent mileage curtailment.

The ODT also announced a scale of deliveries for both wholesale and retail trades, fixing the number of deliveries which may be made each week.

The greatest number of deliveries permitted was for ice for which seven deliveries may be made each for wholesale and retail. Wholesale deliveries of milk were limited to six a week while only four were permitted for retail.

Commodities not specifically mentioned in the ODT's list were permitted two deliveries a week each for wholesale and retail.

SEVENTH WARD

SCHOOL DECORATIONS DELIGHT PUPILS

Faculty and pupils at Mahoning school are delighted with the painting, decorating and renovating of the rooms, halls, and corridors of the school, which has now been completed. These locations in the school have put on a much more cheery aspect so desirable at all times.

This splendid work which was so much needed has been in progress since the beginning of the year, was done by the city schools supplementary janitors.

The War Stamps and Bond Sales drive is still on. The fact that the pupils and faculty completed a very successful campaign up until the beginning of this month does not mean that these splendid efforts should slow up. The war is still on in all its intensity and we must do all in our power to back our armed forces on land, sea, and air until final victory is won.

TO DISPENSE WITH PARADE THIS YEAR

Members of the Christopher Columbus Society have decided to dispense with the annual Memorial Day parade this year, on account of the war conditions prevailing, and so many of the members being so busily engaged in defense work. On that day, officers will represent the society and place wreaths and flowers decorating soldiers graves in St. Lucy's cemetery in the ward.

The society is planning to have a supper in Columbus Hall on Memorial Day, for the members and their wives.

NEED MORE FUNDS FOR CAMP PROJECT

Additional Money Is Needed To Provide Curtains For Camp Shenango Recreation Rooms

It was announced today that, while several nice contributions have been received to the fund being raised locally to provide curtains for the recreation rooms at Camp Shenango at Transfer, Pa., quite a bit more money is needed to complete the project.

New Castle citizens, who would like to do something nice to help make the life of the soldiers stationed at Camp Shenango a little more comfortable, are asked to bring or send their contributions to the office of The News, or to Mrs. J. F. Rentz, Winter avenue, or P. F. C. Jack Black, of Rose avenue.

Pvt. Black, who is stationed at Camp Shenango, has been commissioned by camp authorities to secure the funds needed to provide curtains for the 40 recreation rooms at the camp.

Contributions were received in several of the churches Sunday, in addition to some received the previous Sunday. In addition a number of individuals have given to the fund, but much more is needed.

It is hoped to have the campaign for this money brought to a successful close as speedily as possible, so folks are asked to make their donation to this fund immediately.

Memorial Day Parade Committee Members Gather

Arrangements For Parade And Line Of March Outlined Following Meeting

Following a meeting of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the Memorial Day parade, held in the Legion Home on Monday evening and, presided over by Chief Marshal Cecil F. Suber, announced that all arrangements for the parade are now completed.

The procession will leave the Legion Home on North Jefferson street promptly at 1:45 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The parade must move at this time, so that those taking part in the program at Greenwood cemetery can complete their exercises there and get back to the court house by 3 o'clock for the dedication of the memorial plaque to the deceased of the present war.

Chief Marshal Suber has named the county commissioners, William R. Walton, George H. Bolinger and Joseph F. Travers, as honorary aides and Chester C. Sweezy as assistant marshal.

One of the features of the parade will be the appearance of the Elks Junior Commandos, who will be accompanied by a beautiful float, attractively decorated with an arrangement appropriate to the occasion. The commandos are under the supervision of Col. Katherine M. Christofer, Capt. Dom Christofer, Capt. Phyllis Vigiano, Capt. Lois Smith, Capt. Nellie Ringer, Capt. Eleanor Dufford, Capt. Ann Colaluca and Capt. Virginia Cowperthwait.

The GACS of the senior high school will also be in the line of march with their supervisor, Miss Margaret Fisher, one of the staff aides to Marshal Suber.

There will be four bands, the senior high band, Bessemer band, Mahoning school band and Croton school band.

All soldiers, sailors and marines of the present war who are home on leave are asked to take part in the parade, a special division having been arranged for them at the head of the procession.

AT ALTOONA MEETING

Mrs. Clotilda Ross, Lutton street, grand deputy of the Sons of Italy lodge, Cosmo Galasso, South Jefferson street, officer; and Mrs. Annetta Bernardi, of the Ellwood City Lodge, have returned from attending the grand council meeting of the Sons of Italy, of Altoona, Pa., on Sunday and Monday.

The trouble with this world is that you never make money enough to do the things you plan except when all plans are cancelled by war.

Among the ancient Polynesians from whom the natives of Hawaii descended, there was a tabu which prohibited women from eating in the presence of men.

Northern Ireland faces a drought of whisky and champagne.

Do you take its service for granted?

It may be you forget about your church from one week's end to the next. Yet, isn't it reassuring to know it's always there on its familiar corner, an important part of your community's life? In somewhat the same manner you might look on your railroad. Even when you are not using it, it's still there, offering twenty-four-hours-a-day service.

To give you that service, thousands of workers and millions of dollars' worth of equipment must be maintained. We think you'll agree the business and cultural life you know would be different, indeed, if your railroad weren't there!

For many months, Uncle Sam's needs have come first with the sixty thousand B & O workers. Yet, we feel your civilian requirements are being well taken care of, too. And, depend on this: after Victory, your community's needs again will have our first consideration.

Health Talks By DR. W. A. WOMER City Health Superintendent

DIAGNOSIS

When a doctor talks about "Diagnosis" he means saying what is wrong with you.

He makes an examination and finds you have pneumonia. His diagnosis is pneumonia.

The diagnosis is the important thing. If you do not know what the trouble is, you cannot help much.

All this hullabaloo about vitamins in pills doesn't get us very much.

If you eat meat and eggs and enriched bread and vegetables and fruit and cereals, you get vitamins galore. You get them in the proper form too.

If you are sick, you need a diagnosis before you take a pill. If you are not sick you do not need a pill.

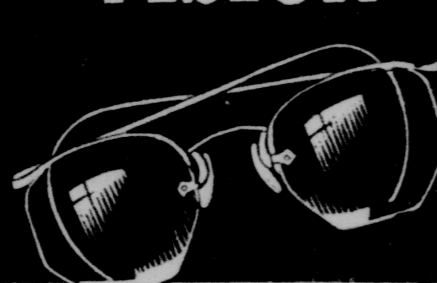

We have too many rackets. The vitamin pill racket is a big one.

Dormitory Rooms Much Used At 'Y'

House Committee Supervises Many Improvements In Past Year

Dormitory rooms at the Y. W. C. A. have been full most of the time in the past year with 134 transient guests and 38 guests who remained from two weeks to one year, according to a recent report of the Y. W. C. A. House Committee.

The building has also been used by 37 agencies whose memberships total 1,183 with regular meetings from once a week to once a month, in addition to regular activities.

Improvements supervised by the House Committee at the "Y" in the past year have included putting a partition in the dormitory making two nice rooms to better fill needs at the local "Y", making an exit in the auditorium by cutting down a window to the fire escape for fire protection, repairs to a radiator, the purchasing of 12 wool blankets for the dormitory, repairs to the Jefferson street sidewalk and repairs to the coal stoker.

The House Committee has also supervised the conversion of the auditorium into a lounge in order that it may be of greater use.

MOUNTAIN TOP VIEWS OUT FOR DURATION

(International News Service) COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., May 25—For the first time since motorists have been chugging to the top of Pikes Peak, they won't be able to do it this summer. Neither will they be able to motor to the top of Mount Evans.

State Highway Engineer Charles E. Vail announced today the roads up both mountains would be closed to motoring tourists this year. He gave as his reason for the ban that scenic tours are no help to the war effort and merely add to the unnecessary consumption of gasoline.

Donay Sentenced For Concealing Escape Of Nazi

Six And One-Half Years And Fine For Part In Krug's Escape From Prison Camp

(International News Service)
DETROIT, May 25.—Theodore Donay, 43-year-old former corporal in the Kaiser's army, was sentenced Monday by Federal Judge Frank A. Pickard to six years and six months in prison and fined $1,000 for concealing knowledge of a Nazi aviator's escape from a Canadian prison camp.

The tall, tight-lipped German-born importer was found guilty May 12 of misprison of treason in the United States in 1942.

A jury of nine women and three men, found him guilty after 57 minutes of deliberation.

Donay heard their verdict with half-closed eyes and clenched fists. From the outset he maintained he had no inkling that the Luftwaffe Lieutenant Hans Peter Krug, was an escaped German prisoner. It was for aiding Krug's escape that Max Stephan, Detroit restaurant owner, has been sentenced to death.

Stoutly Donay reiterated his allegiance to the United States. After the verdict he asked the court for an immediate sentence.

The federal government is now moving to revoke Donay's citizenship.

The trial of Donay occupied less than six days and reached its highest pitch of emotion when Krug, wearing the blue-gray uniform of the Nazi air force, reversed his previous stand and testified against Donay.

NINE men usually make up each crew of those big American bombers that fly so far and hit so hard—and cost a quarter-million.

Pilot, co-pilot, bombardier, navigator, engineer, radio man and three gunners are picked and put together as carefully as their plane—to form a superbly trained and co-ordinated team.

Read the home towns of a typical team, around the rim of the picture above. Here are United States in action. Here's a real All-American team!

Not just because of geography, either. You've got to be good to play on this team. Competition is tough. You're on your own. Doesn't matter who you are or where you're from. Pull won't help. Only brains, ability and energy can make you the boss of a bomber.

That's the way the Air Force works—and the way America works. That's one of the big things we're all fighting for—the right to live our own lives and make our own careers—the opportunity to work and save and get ahead.

That system made Americans independent and America strong. It encouraged invention. It built the big industries that are arming the United Nations for victory. It created the electric companies that power most of America's war plants and produce far more electricity than any nation has ever known before.

Let's make sure that our All-American teams find this freedom of opportunity when they come back from the Big Game.

Let's hold fast to the system of business management under public regulation that has worked so long, so well.

JUVENILE QUESTION IS 'BIG HEADACHE,' COUNCIL AGREES

Curfew Law Information Discussed At Council Session Monday

During council meeting held Monday in city hall, Gilbert Long, assistant to City Solicitor Robert White, presented information concerning the operation of curfew ordinances or state laws as they are made effective in Sharon, Youngstown and Pittsburgh. The local council has a proposed curfew now in committee but pending a fuller study of conditions as they now exist or may exist in the future, no definite action has been taken. Possibility exists a brand new bill may be drafted.

Council realizes that under present conditions the "council has a headache." However, as Public Safety Director D. O. Davies stated: "Public officials must be ready to suffer the headache." He said that during the past two weeks he has received telephone calls from mothers of daughters who said they favored a curfew. He also declared that in Pittsburgh enforcement of the law which prohibits young girls and boys from being in public streets and places had resulted in missing girls being found and allegedly young thieves being apprehended.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne brought forth the fact that many girls, some of whom possibly gave their age as older than they actually are to obtain employment, work at night. He also stated that all laws of the state are based on eastern standard time and that this should be considered in designating a time for the young people to be off the street and at home. Councilman Joe Alexander asserted that the motion picture shows do not close until 11 p. m. or after to which the mayor added: "You can't expect a mother to always go there with her children."

Solicitor White suggested that under existing state law there is no need of passing a new curfew law. He said under the present law any boy or girl, under 17 (as the proposed ordinance stipulates) may be questioned by Policewoman McKibben in a private room on the third floor of the city building. She would have charge of girls. A designated policeman may question the boys under that age, after which they would be taken to their homes, parents notified, but, upon a second apprehension, could be turned over to juvenile court authorities.

Safety Director Davies expressed a dislike for the state law to which Solicitor White referred, uttering the opinion that, if one were taken into custody under its "suspicion" provisions "it might leave a stamp forever on the young people." Solicitor White explained that the city of Pittsburgh is now operating under existing legislation and has not passed a new curfew law.

Davies explained that were a young person apprehended under the proposed curfew law "it would sound different." He, like other members of council and the legal staff, do not desire to place a stigma on anyone.

It is probable that council and the legal staff will arrange for an informal meeting and after airing their views the city lawyers will draft a curfew ordinance in full keeping with their desires.

Cut Daily Milk For Children On Relief

Other Measures Approved By Governor Affect Highways, Taxes And Soldiers

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 25—Among bills signed by Governor Martin Monday were measures relieving the Department of public assistance of the necessity of supplying children on relief under 16 with a pint of milk daily, extending for another two years the right of auto convoys to use state highways, authorizing the issuance by the state of $120,000,000 in tax anticipation notes during the next biennium, and codifying local methods of collecting delinquent taxes.

Five measures benefiting soldiers were approved. They provide free birth and marriage certificates, divorce decrees and fishing licenses to members of the armed forces and safeguard the retail license rights of liquor dealers called into service.

Other bills signed authorize the department of public assistance to provide relief for war evacuees, permit the installation in bar rooms of miniature sound motion picture machines, and direct the joint state government commission to draft an "equitable" senatorial and representative reapportionment program for submission to the 1942 session of the legislature.

BUNDLES FOR AMERICA

May 22, 1943.

Dear Editor: A clipping from your paper of May 3, 1943, has been called to my attention.

The spirit and administration of Bundles for America are so entirely different from that indicated in your article that I am writing to ask if you will publish this letter in your paper so that the people of New Castle may understand our aims, our objectives and our method of operation.

Bundles for America is a home front service. We are a private war relief membership corporation, incorporated in the states of New York, Illinois and California. All contributions to Bundles for America are tax exempt. We are licensed by the President's War Relief Control Board, license No. D13, to knit for our fighting forces, to maintain salvage sewing rooms to transform usable garments for the families of our Army and Navy, to send kit bags to the forces upon request of commanding officers, and to serve on a local basis with already established agencies in any way that may further the morale of the people and contribute to the efficiency of the war effort.

As a national agency we are subject to certain controls. These controls were created for the protection of the public. We are required to furnish a bi-annual audit to the President's War Relief Control Board. Our books are set up to be certified twice each year by certified public accountants. In New York City, where our office is located, a requirement for these audits is that all funds raised for Bundles for America shall be forwarded to the national treasurer at headquarters.

Bundles for America, however, has always prided itself upon the freedom and independence of its branches. In order to maintain this independence we have arranged with our branches throughout the United States that they maintain branch accounts, to which we will transfer, on their order, all of the funds which they raise, with the exception of 15 per cent, which we will hold here in a general fund at national headquarters for the normal distribution and administration of all of the relief that is carried on throughout our several distribution centers in the United States. If the branches prefer to leave these funds at national headquarters, they are placed in a trust fund which is at the disposal of that branch alone unless for some reason it is closed. We send them materials and yarn from this fund upon their order and debit their branch account, thus, by buying in large quantities we are able to effect a saving over local retail prices. In addition we guarantee to return to the branches, at the end of the fiscal year, anything between the actual administrative expenses of the national office and the 15 per cent which they have placed in the general fund.

Bundles for America serves Americans, either our forces or their families, in America, without red tape. We do not hoard; we carry no stocks; we operate on orders from the Army and Navy and Merchant Marine, or the Army and Navy Relief Societies, thus guaranteeing no duplication of the work of any other organization. We need workers and we need workrooms. We hope that we will have many friends in New Castle, for our kind of a job is particularly American and is tremendously needed.

Sincerely yours,
GERTRUDE TORREY,
President.

Boy Scout Camp Being Prepared For June Opening

Camp Director Joe Hartman, Well-Known Athlete, Plans Summer Activities

Scrubbing, painting and repairing is now going on at the Boy Scout Camp in a general rejuvenation campaign before the camp opens on June 27. A new electric pump has been installed and a new deep well has been drilled, to insure the boys of an ample supply of good well water.

Camp Director Joe Hartman, principal of Highland and Arthur McGill schools is planning a program of body-building sports for the camp's athletic activities this summer. A graduate of Grove City College, Director Hartman has had wide experience along the sports line. An outstanding football and basketball star in both high school and college, he also achieved prominence in the baseball world by advancing from the N.C.I.A.A. to the Johnstown Middle Atlantic and the International Leagues, and was considered an excellent big league prospect. He was football and basketball coach in Grove City high school for 15 years and later at Ben Franklin Junior High here. When he was made principal of his schools, he withdrew from the field of athletics.

Harold Burry, Westminster graduate, and teacher and athletic director in the Elwood City Junior High school, is to be in charge of the water front at the camp, handling all swimming, boating and lifesaving activities. New equipment, including two new canoes, has been purchased for the water front program.

For boys from the local council the weekly rate will be $8, with $10 charged for boys outside the New Castle council's jurisdiction.

It took seven days and 17 hours for a copy of Lincoln's first inaugural address to reach California in 1861. It was carried by pony express from St. Joseph, Missouri, to Sacramento, Calif., which is more than 1400 miles.

CANNED OR FROZEN ASPARAGUS

To have a variety of green-colored vegetables for the family next winter, plan to can asparagus when it's at its best and is plentiful. If a freezer locker plant is conveniently located and space is available, asparagus can be frozen successfully.

Canned or frozen asparagus has a wide range of uses. The vegetable may be combined with cream sauce and served on toast or in toasted baskets garnished with slices of hard cooked egg for a hearty supper dish. Asparagus and hard cooked eggs also make a delicious scalloped dish.

To can asparagus: Wash the stalks and remove the large scales if necessary. Reserve the tougher part of the stalk for soup. For whole asparagus, tie in bunches of 20 to 30 stalks of the desired length. Place in a pan with enough boiling water to cover and boil 3 minutes to shrink and shorten the processing time. Remove the string and place in clean jars. Add 1/2 teaspoon of salt to each pint and fill with the water in which the asparagus was cooked or freshly boiled water. Partially seal the jar and process in a pressure cooker 30 minutes for a pint or 35 minutes for a quart.

If a pressure cooker is not available and the asparagus has been freshly picked, it can be processed in a boiling water bath 100 minutes for a pint and 120 minutes for a quart. If the boiling water bath is used, the water should cover the jars by at least one inch and should boil during the entire processing time. Asparagus can also be cut in one-inch pieces for canning. Home-canned asparagus should be boiled 10 minutes before tasting.

In selecting asparagus for a freezer-locker, discard the small woody stalks. Wash and cut the stalks in desired lengths. Blanch by plunging in boiling water for 3 or 4 minutes. Then plunge into cold water, drain and pack into specially prepared containers for freezing. Place in quick-freezing compartment at once.

Lieut. Stephen Poleschuck of Youngstown, O., winner of the Distinguished Service Cross for meritorious air service, will be the guest speaker of the New Castle Kiwanis club at its noon luncheon meeting Wednesday. We are indebted to Frank Strizzi for this program. June 2, Major George F. Mitchell, who is home on leave from England, will be the speaker. Both of these soldiers have interesting stories to tell and in a few short sentences can explain why everyone should buy stamps and bonds to the fullest extent. ELSIE.

Pennsylvania Railroad provides Station Canteens, Lounges or Special Facilities for Service Men in many Cities

Railroad stations these wartime days are crowded with men from all branches of the service. Some going to induction centers, some to advanced training camps, some to global fronts, some home on well-earned furloughs.

No matter how brief their stay is, the railroads want them to feel "at home."

So in a number of stations on the Pennsylvania Railroad, service men are welcomed to canteens, lounges and other facilities especially for them. At Union Stations, the Pennsylvania joins with other railroads in offering service men these facilities.

Here the service men may relax, write, eat, refresh themselves, chat, play games... and, at a few, even sleeping quarters are provided. More than 6,000,000 men in uniform have been entertained or assisted in these centers since Pearl Harbor.

The facilities are operated by the USO (including the Travelers' Aid Society, the YMCA, the Salvation Army), the Women's Aid of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the American Legion or other local patriotic organizations.

With the splendid cooperation of these worthy groups, who give so generously of their time and money—the Pennsylvania Railroad will continue to make things as pleasant and comfortable as possible for the boys serving our Country.

Baseball Today Strange Tangle Of Contradictions

Form Reversal, Ups And Downs Perplex Experts

Dead Ball, Hitless Batters, Runless Teams, Pitching Add To Confusion

PHILLIES' SURGE CAN'T BE EXPLAINED

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Staff Writer)
NEW YORK, May 25.—Baseball as it is played today presents the strangest tangle of contradictions, reversals of form, ups and downs and plain fantasy as have ever been witnessed on the American sports scene.

First serious argument in 1942 centered around the baseball hitless batters and runless teams complained about the balata ball, and to their apparent satisfaction, it was explained that a manufacturing defect had been discovered and a new, livelier ball would be substituted.

No Hitting Boom
Once this explanation and promise was forwarded by A. G. Spalding Co., the furor died down. There has been no consistent improvement of hitting. There is not a soul connected with baseball who does not know that the ball is not as lively as was promised. For the double-headers played Sunday, the teams collected an average of about 2.9 runs per game.

Major league pitchers with great consistent performance written into the books are having trouble this year as in no other. This may be traced to the stars who were more than liable to be hitting in the clutch, but who are now dogging their services to the armed forces.

Paradoxically, rookies and old men are turning in great performances with the same type of bating attack behind them. Rookie Jesse Flores, of Philadelphia, is one of the hottest guys on the hill. Dizzy Trout, of Detroit, has chalked up four victories in a row. Bob Newson has won five for Brooklyn. Castoff Rube Melin turned in two wins with only two days' rest. Schoolboy Rowe hung a four-hit shutout on the Pittsburgh Pirates for the Phillies.

Phil's "Hot"
Sunday's crowd of 37,176 at Philadelphia (the largest recorded attendance for a National League game in that city) cannot be explained. When Bill Cox bought the Phillies, it was thought by most that he was just a guy who had plenty of moolah and was willing, and apparently destined, to lose a chunk of it. But he turned up with the best club the Phillies have had since 1915, when they won the pennant. The best on the field—and the best at the gate.

All this has the experts perplexed.

Sports Ramblings

Tuesday Ohio—

With June prepping for its 30-day stand, Westminster College has sailed the various sports accoutrements until the next fall. A recapitulation reveals that the Titans molded together a .639 average during the 42-43 stretch in three dozen contests and meets, the grid, dribbling, cross-country and splashing troups emerged triumphant 23 times. On the cage range, the Titans won 12 and lost 7. The pigskin game netted the localites an even split in nine games. Considering all things, the blue and white finished with an imposing score card.

Second Lieut. Ross Bridenbaugh, son of Head Coach P. H. Bridenbaugh, of Ne-Ca-Hi, is flying bombers around South America. . . . The Moose and Shenango Pottery will play their home City Baseball League tilt on Lee avenue field, West Side, Johnny Soho, of the Potters, disclosed today. . . . The latest travel ban threatens to prevent the New Castle church golf loop from teeing-off for the initial time in several years.

A letter arrived today from Pvt. "Rudy" Rubeis stating that about 70 New Castleites are located at Camp Swift, Texas. The contributor lists Pvt. Jim Weaver, Pvt. Lamoree, Pvt. Tommy McCreary, Pvt. "Red" Gentle, Pvt. David Robinson, Pvt. David Bradford, Pvt. Adam Bagnaca, Pvt. Fritz Germani, Pvt. "Lefty" Majors, and Pvt. "Bill" Querrierra as "part of the New Castle contingent here". Rubeis is establishing an illustrious mark as a softball hurler. He has won three consecutive tilts and has struck out 34 batters. The customary greetings to the local sports family are included. . . .

Those extra coppers kept by the track, instead of being turned over to holders of winning tickets, make up quite a nice chunk of change. Last year, the odd pennies amounted to $1,300,000 in New York State! . . . Financial note: Bob Montgomery drew $14,033 for beating Beau Jack. That represents the biggest wage he has earned in seven years of pugilistic warfare. Jack's take was $33,076. . . .

Female brute: Mrs. Babe Didrickson Zaharias can drive a golf ball consistently between 250-300 yards. . . . Add sign of the times: The Phillies have played 21 setts at home thus far and have managed to attract 168,779 cash customers! . . . After losing every Sunday ball game played this season (six), the Dodgers shattered the jinx by winning two last Sunday.

Church Golf Loop Will Open June 3

May 27 Opening Date Is Changed; David H. Aston 1943 President

New Castle Church Golf league will open its season on Thursday, June 3, instead of May 27, at Castle Hills. President David H. Aston announced today.

The loop has been in existence for nine years and, so far as is known, is the only one of its kind in the nation. All denominations are represented. Good fellowship is the keynote.

Officers elected recently include: Officials Named
David H. Aston, president; Robert L. Wallace, vice president; Morgan Jones, St. secretary; Karl T. Rohrer, assistant secretary; Blair D. Alverson, treasurer and Mont Macgill, assistant treasurer.

W. J. Clark, one of the energetic members, again is in charge of forming the schedule. League captains are urged to forward players' list to Clark as soon as possible.

Anyone interested in playing in the league or any church not yet represented that wishes to enter a team, should get in touch with any of the above officers, or be at the course at teeing off time which will be from 5:30 to 6:30. Handicaps will be established for all new players.

CITY LEAGUE MEETS TONIGHT

City Baseball league officials and managers will complete plans for Sunday's grand opening during tonight's meeting in the Y.M.C.A. Mike Donovan, president, announced the session will begin at 8 o'clock.

Managers will be requested to forward contracts of players in the "fold."

Moose-Pottery Battle Wednesday

Henry-Angott Match Likely In Cleveland

Armstrong's Signature Only Hitch In Proposed June 13 Encounter

PROMOTERS OFFER SAMMY $20,000

By DAVID J. WALSH
(International News Service Staff Writer)
CHICAGO, May 25.—If promoters can get Henry Armstrong's name on the customary line, there will be an anti-New York lightweight championship fight, with the benediction of the N.B.A., between Armstrong and Sammy Angott in the Cleveland Municipal stadium on the night of June 13.

This much was practically settled in a Chicago north side apartment where the Cleveland promoters met with Charley Jones, Angott's manager.

Offer $20,000
The Cleveland promoters said they'd give Angott $20,000. They also said, gratuitously, that they'd give him the first $10,000 of this within 48 hours. Jones very hurriedly said yes.

His fighter relinquished the title for a few months after he's been both New York and N.B.A. champion, then as mysteriously came back to give featherweight champion Willie Pep a slathering. He's apparently permanently back.

Beau Jack succeeded Angott, in the pompous reckoning of the New York commission, because he'd knocked over a couple of fistic duck pies. But all he had left was his intellect at a late hour last Friday after meeting Bob Montgomery whom Angott has licked three times out of three.

As for Armstrong, the ex-champion, he did 13½ for a recent over-the-limit fight with Jack and says he can make the weight.

These maneuvers represent an attempt to set up at least a "nuisance value" bloc against Marmaduke Jacobs, Mike Neeke, which is all very interesting. But not so much so as the fact that boxing men now are coming to Chicago—which had the all-time biggest gate, $2,600,000, in order to make matches for Cleveland.

HENRY KAYOES MAXIE SHAPIRO

Armstrong Asks Referee To Stop Bout In Seventh; 9,000 See Clash

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—Having made full use of a 5½ pound weight handicap and years of battling experience, Hammerin' Henry Armstrong today held a seventh round T. K. O. over New York's game, but ineffective, Maxie Shapiro.

Before a crowd of almost 9,000 at Convention Hall, the former triple title-holder methodically and unmercifully cut Maxie's face to ribbons after the New Yorker stepped out to take the first round.

Appeals To "Ref"
In the seventh, Armstrong poured blows at Maxie's head, causing blood to pour from his left ear. It was then that Hammerin' Henry suddenly stopped pounding and appealed to the referee to stop the bout.

The decision gives Armstrong his 19th victory since hitting the comeback trail last September. He has gained 13 knockouts and six decisions.

Committee To Ask War Department For More Comprehensive Program

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 25.—A four man congressional committee today was slated to ask the War Department for a more comprehensive athletic program.

A conference was scheduled between Gen. P. H. Osborn, in charge of special services and the committee composed of Sen. Mead (D-N.Y.), Reps. Dilweg (D-Wis.), Weiss (D-Pa.) and Mounsey (D-Iowa). Weiss said that the committee will urge that the army receive the same consideration the navy does regarding athletics. He said that if the navy men can play football the same privilege should be extended the army.

Dilweg, a former professional football player, said he will suggest better organized sports for the war worker, maintaining that physical fitness among the workers will go far toward winning the battle of production.

Phil Cavarretta Fined, Suspended

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, May 25.—Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Chicago Cubs said today he probably would put Heinz Becker on first base during the five-day banishment to which Phil Cavarretta was sentenced by Ford Frick, president of the National league.

Frick notified Cub officials the usually mild Cavarretta had been suspended and fined $100 for getting tough and pushing umpire Lou Jordana around in Sunday's second game at Boston. The suspension was effective as of yesterday and his reinstatement will come Saturday.

Thus he will miss the entire series with the Giants, which starts tomorrow, and Becker will get another chance to show how good he is. Even if Cavarretta is absent, the Cubs still have Lou Novikoff, the mad Russian and champion 1943 holdout. Lou is working out at Wrigley field, having apparently made his peace with General Manager Jimmy Gallagher, and claiming to be ready to get in there against the Giants.

QUICK PICKUPS:

By LAWTON CARVER
(INS Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, May 25.—After bringing in Count Fleet to a six-length victory in the Withers at Belmont park Saturday, Jockey Johnny Longden casually announced that the Count would have smashed the mile record had the track been faster. The Count, shooting at the time of 1:34 4-5, whipped around the track in 1:36. It takes a pilot like Longden to be casual about breaking world records. . . . especially when he has a horse like the Count. . . .

The Yanks are praying that Second Baseman Joe Gordon is out of his hitting slump. Joe is hitting .231 at present, but poled out a ninth inning home run in the Yankees 9 to 2 loss to the Indians Saturday to break the first serious slump of his career. . . .

Another top-flight batter, Mel Ott, is suffering in the throes of a bad streak at the plate. Ott has almost single-handedly kept the Giants out of the National league cellar, but his average to date is .218. . . .

Dutch Bergman, new coach of the world champion Washington Redskins, will start rounding up his players in June. Manpower shortage, the bugaboo of sports, will probably take a terrific whack at pro football, but Bergman thinks the problem can be solved. Although he has only 14 men available out of a squad of 33 in 1942, Bergman plans to pick up what he can from the ranks of older players. . . .

Washington Senators' base thief, George Case, who has led the American league for four straight years in the sack-pilfering department, is far behind his average of last year. Case explains that pitchers throughout the loop have developed a tendency to hold the runner close to the bag, and that even rookie hurlers give him trouble. . . .

Joost Braves' Cog
The seven-game winning streak of the Boston Braves is the longest they have enjoyed in ten years. The sparkplug in the Boston drive is Eddie Joost, who was pointed out before he even reached the Braves as a man doomed to failure. Joost traveled to Boston in a winter trade with the Cincinnati Reds for Eddie Miller, who handled shortstop so dashing he gained a large Boston following. In addition to edging out Whitey Wietelmann for the assignment at short stop, Joost also had to overcome the prejudice of Boston fans. . . .

The Yankees ought to be glad the western swing is over. They got off to a bad start, dropping three of their first four games, then being hit with a long spell of bad weather. . . .

The minor leagues are doing better than the majors in the matter of attendance. The American Association drew 101,521 for its first 39 games. The Eastern league shows an increase over the figures of 1942 and the Pacific Coast loop has a four-week figure of 235,113 compared with 203,845 for a similar period last season. . . .

Praises Montgomery
Henry Armstrong, former three-division title holder who is now stepping along the comeback trail, said Bob Montgomery "will make a great champion," and also added that if they should meet in the ring he would "whale the daylight" out of the Philadelphian. . . .

Revolver Club Class To Meet Tonight At 7:30

Frank Bailey, Local Chemist, To Give Demonstration In Cathedral

Sportsmen Revolver club will hold its regular meeting and weekly mail arms session tonight in The Cathedral. Secretary Charles H. Schweinsberg announced.

At the close of the school session, starting at 7:30, Frank Bailey, a local chemist and a student in the school, will give a demonstration on explosives and powder charges and what takes place inside a shell casing when the primer is struck or set off.

Two Meeting Nights
Announcement was made today that in the future the club will stage meetings on Monday and Tuesday evenings. The classes are so large that an extra evening is necessary.

The current classes will complete their course in two weeks. Registrations are now being accepted for the next classes.

Mechanicsburg High Cager Will Shoot For 1,000-Point Mark Next Season

MECHANICSBURG, Pa. May 25.—If Herbert (Beb) Stewart, rangy center on the Mechanicsburg high school basketball quintet, plays next season, he is confident of reaching his goal of 1,000 points.

Editors' Note: Coy Craine, Wampus high slicker, not only hit the grand mark but bettered the figure by close to 200 points.

The towering senior has flipped 822 points through the hoops in 45 games over a three-year span for an average of 14.94 points a game which is good in any man's league.

Slow Starter
Jeb says he didn't do so well during his freshman year when he played for the Chambersburg club of the Southern Pennsylvania conference. Although he won the individual scoring championship of the loop, he lamented the fact that he scored "only" 231 tallies. They were spread over 20 games for an average of 11.55 per tilt.

His eagle eye gained him scoring laurels again in his sophomore year when he played for the Trojans. In 18 games, the lanky center registered 322 points averaging 17.88 markers a game.

Flips 269 Points
This year he shattered a new record to become the first conference player to gain the individual scoring title three years in a row. His last title has won playing on the Mechanicsburg five for coach Johnny Frederick's Wildcats. The third crown was given him for scoring 269 points in 17 games for an average of 15.82 a game.

The 18-year-old senior, who towers over his classmates with his six-foot-seven frame, may be called up by the draft soon but there is a possibility that he may be rejected due to his height. In that case, he believes, the 1000 point goal of his will be a sure thing.

The carnival is on the books for this afternoon, provided the weatherman yields.

Golden Glove Battlers To Box Wednesday

Classy Looking Calendar Arranged For N. C. Hospital Nurses

JACKIE FIELDS TO BE PRESENT

Years ago and fanettes of this city were treated to one of the finest displays of pugilistic art when Willie Davies and Midget Wolgast, flounders battled in the Jolly ball and tomorrow night in The Arena, the cream of the amateur flyweights in this section, Henry Kaminsky of Pittsburgh and Chester Hoover of Youngstown, each weighing 113 pounds, are expected to repeat the performance. The calendar of 15 punch artists is crowded with stars of Golden Glove tournaments. The first fight will begin at 8:30 p.m. The doors will open at 7:30 p.m.

The Jefferson A. C. is staging the fistic whirligig to benefit the New Castle Hospital Nurses Alumni. No person does more for the sick and injured than nurses and possibly exists that, despite a saving of gasoline, fans and fanettes will wait from buses to The Arena, a clean and comfortable sports palace, well adapted for holding such affairs. According to reports people of all ranks have made reservations. The bouts will be under the supervision of the State Athletic commission and Amateur Athletic union.

Speaking of the talent that studs the docket, there's oodles of it. In fact, practically one half of the 16 engaged to appear are Golden Glove tournament winners and Herky not so long ago fought his way into the finals of the National A.A.U. tournament at Boston which shows that he is one of the best in the amateur world. Those who have witnessed Chester's foe perform have nothing but the highest praise for his science and all around battling.

There will be two local boys on the card, one of whom is Albert Brooks, known as "Dancing Feet" because he can dance like a drummer man drum. He will take on Buddy Triplett, heavyweight of Youngstown of whom "Dancing Feet" says: "Ah's gonna dance rings round dat boy then stow dat boulder away." However, Buddy may not prove so easy a foe as the free swinging Moravia street slugger imagines. Mark Duddy, who fought a good fight last time out, will oppose Mike Mosak of Aliquippa at 155.

Remainder Of Card
Roy Crews, Ellwood City, middleweight champion of Lawrence county vs. Don De Genthier, Youngstown Golden Glove 160-pound champion. Eddie Timbers, Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh 147-pound Golden Glove champion vs. Ray Nulph, New Bethel's veteran of 100 amateur fights.

Pete Pershlop, McKees Rocks, 140-pound Golden Glove champion vs. Burd Charity, a Youngstown fighter who reportedly will extend Pershlop to the limit.

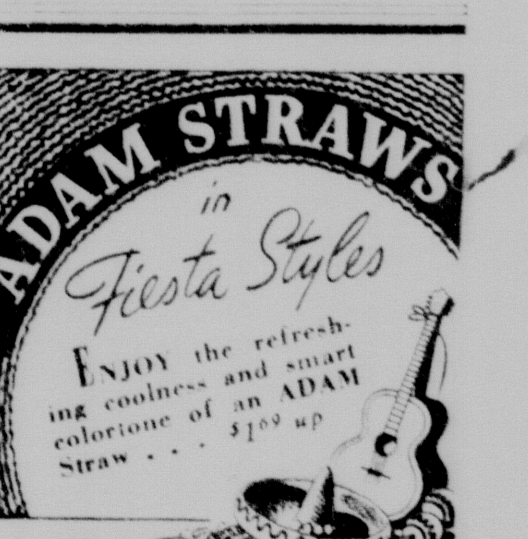

Danny Dantine, McKees Rocks vs. Gene Douglass, Youngstown featherweight who ranks high according to those who have seen him "go." Tony Ceronio, McKees Rock Golden Glove 118-pound champion vs. Red Di Moto of Youngstown, a cousin to and who fights like Boom Boom Mancini.

Should all the reportedly Golden Glove winners and their antagonists perform up to the reputations their trainers claim they have, Wednesday evening should be a real Evening's Event.

The Jefferson Athletic club was busy today making reservations. Among those who will be guests are Jackie Fields, former welterweight champion, now a corporal, stationed at Deshon hospital, Butler, some members of the army staff there and also from Shenango Personnel Replacement depot.

Sergeant Quits Work With WAACs

(International News Service)

CAMP CAMPBELL, Ky.—Can you imagine a guy leaving an army post where he handed out clothing and other feminine attire to hundreds of beautiful WAACs?

Well, the 20th armored division at Camp Campbell has such a soldier in the division provost marshal's office. He is Sgt. Joseph Ciardullo of Arma, Kan.

Ciardullo came to Camp Campbell recently from the WAACs training center at Fort Des Moines, Ia., where he handed out the G. I. clothing to members of the feminine army as a representative of the quartermaster corps.

When asked to explain his leaving Fort Des Moines and the WAACs, the sergeant just shrugged his shoulders and remarked, "That's the army for you."

Says Only Time Japs Smile Is When Captured

(International News Service)

BROWNSVILLE, Pa.—The indomitable sense of humor of the fighting men of the United States Marines was illustrated here by the comments of platoon Sgt. George Vrabie, 22, of Brownsville, home on leave after a "hot" session on Guadalcanal.

"I guess I was ziegling when I should have been zagging," was his only answer to friends who dropped to inquire about the wounds which sent him home.

Describing a bayonet charge made by the marines on the island, Vrabie declared that the Japs cried for mercy. Most of them fell in English, too, he observed.

"It's funny about those fanatical fighters who joy in dying in battle and who face machine gun fire unflinchingly," he said. "They never die with a smile on their faces—they scowl. The only time they smile is when they are taken prisoner."

Army Women
Find Pay Ample

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga.—Auxiliary Harriet Walker, on duty at the WAAC branch headquarters fourth service command, reveals how the streamlined army woman spends her money.

"Most of our $50 pay goes for soda fountain drinks, candy and other small purchases at the post exchange," Auxiliary Walker said.

"With the army furnishing our food, clothing, shelter, medical and dental care, pay is just extra money, and I always have some left at the end of the month. I'd say our pay is equivalent to $125 a month in civilian life."

By joining the army, the auxiliary pointed out, women don't have to participate in the battle-of-hosiery-counter because the army furnishes them two kinds of hose, hosiery for heavy duty wear on the post and rayon for dress.

WAACs spent their money mostly on make-up, cigarettes, notebooks for class, shoe polish, soap and soldiers' handbooks which they can obtain at cost price in the post exchange.

Although the PX is equipped with a beauty shop, most of the girls prefer to do their own styling, Auxiliary Walker reported. She also revealed that many of the WAACs wash their own shirts in the barracks laundry.

The government furnishes extra pay for housing and food when a WAAC is assigned to a job off the post.

So Auxiliary Walker says there is nothing really expensive to spend money on—except meals in town on week-ends and shows—and the lucky ones have dates to take them out then.

Auxiliary Walker enrolled in the corps in January, 1943, in Denver, Colo., where she was working. Previously she had attended the University of Iowa and Drake university in Des Moines.

Sgt. York's Kin Is
WAAC Top Kick

(International News Service)

PT. FRANCIS WARREN, Wyo.—Sgt. York is in the army again—only this time it's the WAACs.

Sgt. Jennie York, a cousin of Alvin York of World War I fame, and "top-kick" of the 56th WAAC headquarters company, had hard-boiled army drill sergeants gaping in amazement as she lined up her contingent as they arrived recently at Ft. Warren from Daytona Beach, Fla. In fact even a major remarked, "I wish my battalion could march like that," as the company swung smartly down the parade grounds to their quarters.

Tall, raven-haired Sgt. York "joined-up" in Clinton, Tenn., only 125 miles from Pall Mall, where resides her famous cousin. She was first sent to the camp at Daytona Beach as a regular private, but it wasn't long before her soldierly bearing and a "way of giving drill commands" won for her a first sergeant's stripes.

Asked how she liked Wyoming after sunny Florida, Sgt. York replied crisply, "It's cold as kraut!"

"Did you hope to become a sergeant like Alvin?"

"No," she said emphatically. "I wanted and still want to get overseas and I don't care what kind of a rating I have as long as I get there. It's like pulling teeth to get over, though."

Sgt. York headed a company of 150 WAACs, the first women soldiers to ever step on the grounds of this historic pioneer fort, established in the 1860's to fight Indians.

Confederates Ate Some Tough Food

ATLANTA, Ga.—So you think the grocery shortage is pretty tough, eh?

Well, listen to what Confederate soldiers and citizens faced when Vicksburg, Miss., was under siege.

In an order of the day dated June 28, 1863, a copy of which hangs on the wall in Atlanta's Confederate Soldiers' Home, Major General Smith instructed that "when a mule is maimed by the fire of the enemy, it may be made use of immediately for food."

The order continued that General Smith was of the opinion that "soup is, perhaps, the most palatable form in which the flesh can be used."

The order of the day from General Smith brought forth an editorial in the Vicksburg Daily Citizen, published on wall paper, praising the "Confederate steak" as "sweet, savory and tender" and commenting that "as long as we have a mule left, we are satisfied our soldiers will be content to subsist on it."

But apparently the diet palled on the defenders. Two days after the surrender, the Daily Citizen carried another editorial on the subject of food.

"Two days bring about great changes," the writer stated. "Never again will this paper eulogize the luxury of mule meat and fricasseed kitten, and urges Southern warriors to such diet never more."
